NCEC members volunteered over 700 hours at Commission and committee meetings as well as during the two community forums held during the year. For most Commissioners, this commitment of time to their city was in addition to other volunteer work with neighborhood and community organizations.

In addition, Commission members met with neighborhood organizations they represent and with City Council members on a range of issues. The NCEC members also had a major role in planning and conducting the annual Community Connections Conference which was attended by over 600 neighborhood and community representatives.

Major Initiatives

Strategic Plan

To help focus the work of the NCEC, the Commission adopted its first strategic plan in 2015. The plan was the product of two planning workshops where commissioners prioritized the work of the commission for the next year. The resulting plan identified four areas:

1. Work Plan. NCEC will adopt a formal work plan for its work, including clarifying who the NCEC serves, and institute a process for using it by July 31, 2015.
2. Neighborhoods 2020. Using the principles of community engagement, NCEC will convene and lead a robust city-wide conversation by stakeholders about the future of neighborhood organizations and will make recommendations to the City Council in 2016 regarding changes to CPP guidelines effective 2017.
3. Blueprint for Equity. Develop a plan for NCEC to use the Blueprint for Equity (later renamed Blueprint for Equitable Engagement) to support city wide (City departments, neighborhood organizations, community and cultural organizations, and residents) effective, inclusive, and equitable engagement in civic governance by December 31, 2015. Work body(ies) Responsible: CIF Funding Committee, CDETF, Blueprint for Equity, One Minneapolis Fund.
 - a. Identify elements of report on boards/commissions diversity that can be used enhance work and develop a plan to use them.
 - b. Create a set of principles and practices that will ensure that all decisions are made using an equity lens.
 - c. Identify community and cultural organizations that can serve as collaborative partners and begin to build relationships with those organizations.
4. Policy Recommendations. NCEC will implement a process by which policy recommendations are made to the City Council at least annually.

Blueprint for Equitable Engagement

In early 2016 the NCEC concluded work on the Blueprint for Equitable Engagement, and recommended its approval by the City Council. The Blueprint is a multi-year strategic action plan to ensure an equitable community engagement system for the City of Minneapolis.

The Commission worked with the City's Neighborhood and Community Relations (NCR) Department utilizing an engagement strategy consistent with the City's adopted Core Principles of Community Engagement to create the Blueprint. This document establishes the groundwork to ensure that the City's engagement efforts are equitable in their approach and implementation. An equitable engagement system ensures that all community voices are sought and valued and that decision makers reflect the communities they serve. The Blueprint for Equitable Engagement focuses in the following areas of the City's engagement work:

1. Neighborhood Organizations: We aim to help neighborhood organizations assess whether or not their outreach efforts, board decision making processes and distribution of resources is being conducted with a lens of equity and inclusion. The City intends to include the 70 neighborhood organizations as partners in addressing racial disparities in our community. With access to local political and social resources, neighborhoods are able to utilize millions of dollars annually and become central places of empowerment for marginalized local residents;
2. City's Board and Commissions: The City has a goal of having the advisory and planning boards and commissions reflect the diversity in the community;
3. Cultural Outreach and Engagement: The department's Access and Outreach team has staff dedicated to providing access to engagement where cultural norms and/or practices, language and disability create barriers; and
4. City Enterprise Outreach and Engagement: The department supports the community engagement efforts of City departments and connects this work with the efforts stated above.

Community Participation Program

The Community Participation Program (CPP) provides funding to build and support strong, sustainable and representative Minneapolis neighborhood organizations. The program provides about $4 million annually to the city's 70 neighborhood organizations.

In 2015 and 2016 new guidelines were developed to guide the program for the next three years. The CPP is aimed at assisting neighborhoods in three key areas:

- (1) Identifying and acting on neighborhood priorities;
- (2) Influencing City decisions on plans, policies, procedures, programs and services; and
- (3) Increasing involvement in civic and community life.

The NCEC met as a Committee of the Whole at two meetings in early 2016 to review the proposed guidelines. At the June 2016 Commission meeting the NCEC completed its review and recommended approval of the guidelines to the City Council.

Community Forums

To broaden the community outreach of the NCEC, the Commission has embarked on a program of holding periodic community forums throughout the city on current topics. These forums allow an opportunity for residents to address the Commission which informs commissioners in developing policy recommendations to the City Council. Since late 2015 two forums have been held:

Tuesday, December 15, 2015 - University of Minnesota Urban Research and Outreach Center (UROC)

This forum was held in North Minneapolis in the wake of the protests over the shooting of Jamar Clark by Minneapolis Police. Approximately fifty residents attended and addressed the Commission on two questions.

Question One: What actions can the City take that could improve the relationship between the City and community members?

Question Two: What specific policy or rule or structure changes could the City make that would improve the relationship between the City and community members?

Wednesday, June 15, 2016 - Sabathani Community Center

This forum was designed to inform residents on elections processes and to hear comments on barriers to voting. It was attended by NCEC members, NCR staff and staff from the Elections Services Division of the City Clerk’s Office. The forum was very lightly attended but did include discussion on a range of issues related to voting.

One Minneapolis Fund

The program started in early 2013 as part of the City’s racial equity effort. Non-profit organizations in Minneapolis that work in cultural communities may apply for small grants to fund programs for leadership development and community engagement. The NCEC played a key role in shaping the program. Commission members developed the program funding guidelines and annually review the applications and make funding recommendations to the City Council.

Now in its fourth year, the One Minneapolis Fund made $182,000 available to non-profit organizations in the city for a variety of programs. The One Minneapolis Fund Committee of the NCEC reviewed 46 applications submitted by the April 9, 2016 deadline and made funding recommendations to the full Commission at the June 28, 2016 meeting. Grant recommendations were later forwarded to the City Council which approved them in their entirety.

Neighborhood 2020 Committee

Creation of the Committee was called for in the 2015 NCEC Strategic Plan with the intention that the group would initially work on review of the Community Participation Program guidelines and later address the long term future of City support to neighborhood organizations.

The Committee met at various locations throughout the city in 2015 and 2016 and included members not on the NCEC. In February and April of 2016 the Committee presented its recommendations on the guidelines to the full Commission. These recommendations formed the basis for subsequent Commission actions on the guidelines.

The final recommendations of the Neighborhoods 2020 Committee can be found online at: <http://www.minneapolismn.gov/ncr/boards/ncec/WCMS1P-152025>.

Community Innovation Fund

The Community Innovation Fund (CIF) is a program called for in the 2008 document Framework for the Future. The CIF provides grants to neighborhood organizations to foster innovative and locally-relevant approaches to City identified goals. The aim of the program is to provide funding for projects which test concepts in neighborhoods which can later be replicated throughout Minneapolis.

In June 2015 the NCEC completed the first round of applications for the program. Recommendations were made to fund projects in 14 neighborhoods. These recommendations were later approved in their entirety by the City Council. The following projects received funding from the program:

Each year the Neighborhood and Community Relations department hosts an annual conference. The conference is a gathering of neighborhood and cultural organizations for the purposes of 1) sharing experiences and best practices; 2) facilitating connections between organizations; and 3) supporting stronger relationships with the City of Minneapolis.

In 2016, the conference was held on April 2nd with over 600 people attending. The conference served as the kick-off event for the City's update of the Comprehensive Plan, which will be developed through 2018.

NCEC members served on the planning committee for the conference. The Commission also hosted a workshop during the conference to learn about the Neighborhood and Community Engagement Commission (NCEC) districts, ways to get elected, what the time commitment is, and what the benefits are of connecting with the NCEC.
