BID AWARDS. The Operations Director will evaluate bids in response to this Invitation for Bids without discussions and will award a contract to the responsive responsible bidder whose bid, conforming to this IFB will be the most advantageous to the Owner considering price and any price-related factors specified in this IFB.

However, the Owner or its Operations Director reserves the right to: reject any and all bids including, without limitation, nonconforming, nonresponsive or conditional bids; investigate the qualifications and experience of any Bidder; reject any provision in any bid; accept other than the lowest bid (e.g., the apparent low bid is unreasonably low); waive informalities or minor, nonmaterial irregularities or deviations in bids received; obtain new bids; or do the work otherwise. The Owner or its Operations Director will reject any bid as nonresponsive if the Bidder does not submit the required certifications and statements or if the bid is materially unbalanced as to the prices for various items of work to be performed. A bid is materially unbalanced when it is based on prices significantly less than cost for some work and prices, which are significantly overstated for other work.

Such information shall be submitted within seven (7) calendar days of receipt of a request. Failure of the Bidder to provide requested information may result in the bid being rejected.

DATA PRACTICES ACT. The Minnesota Government Data Practices Act provides that the names of Bidders and the dollar amount of the bids are public once the bids are opened. All other information, except trade secret information or security information, received by the Owner in response to this IFB becomes public data and must be made available to any person upon request at the times specified in the Act. Trade secret information means data, including a formula, pattern, compilation, program, device, method, technique or process that: (1) is supplied by the Bidder; (2) is the subject of efforts by the Bidder that are reasonable under the circumstances to maintain its secrecy; and (3) derives independent economic value, actual or potential, from not being generally known to, and not being readily ascertainable by proper means by, other persons who can obtain economic value from its disclosure or use. Security information means data, the disclosure of which would be likely to substantially jeopardize the security of information, possessions, individuals or property against theft, tampering, improper use, attempted escape, illegal disclosure, trespass, or physical injury.

Trade secret or security information that meets the legal requirements of Minnesota law as described in the above definitions should be limited and set apart in the bid on separate pages with a heading that clearly identifies the information as a trade secret or security information submitted by the Bidder. The Owner will make the ultimate determination whether the information meets the applicable definition. Any information submitted in response to this IFB that does not meet the legal definition will be considered public information, regardless of the Bidder's identification of it as nonpublic. Bidders are instructed that blanket-type identification by designating the whole pages or sections as containing proprietary or confidential information will not assure confidentiality. The specific trade secrets or security information must be clearly identified as such. Submitted bids shall not be copyrighted. A statement by a Bidder that submitted information is copyrighted or otherwise protected does not prevent public access to the information contained in the bid response.

FORM OF TRADE CONTRACTOR AGREEMENT. The Owner will use a Standard Form of Agreement Between Owner and Contractor, which has been modified and supplemented to meet the Owner's own requirements and to meet state and federal laws and regulations that apply to the project work that is the subject of this IFB. A sample copy of the Agreement Between Owner and Contractor is attached to this IFB.

Each Bidder is strongly advised to review carefully the attached sample Agreement Between Owner and Contractor and is responsible for taking into account the requirements contained in the Trade Contractor Agreement when preparing its bid. As part of its bid, the Bidder certifies that, if its bid is accepted, the Bidder agrees to comply with the terms and conditions contained in the attached Agreement and any attachments.
